

67 FREIGHT TRAINS REQUIRED TO MOVE REYNOLDS' BIG BUY

An Idea of the Magnitude of the Purchase Reynolds Made From the Co-operative Association This Week Is Given.

Some idea of the magnitude of the deal by which the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company takes over practically all the holdings of the 1921 crop in the hands of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association may be gathered from figures given out by Warehouse Manager Robert E. Beatty, of the Lexington district.

Manager Beatty said that it would require 67 freight trains, of fifty cars each, to carry the 54,000,000 pounds sold, that the tobacco would fill 3,375 standard freight cars, and that, if the hogheads containing it were placed end to end they would reach for a distance of more than fifty miles.

Official figures from the department of agriculture at Washington, received in Lexington, show that the burley crop of 1921, not counting the association sales, averaged 9 cents a pound more than that of 1920, as it brought 22.3 cents a pound, as compared with 13.37 cents a pound for the 1920 crop. This was paid in spite of the fact that the 1921 crop was inferior to that of 1920. According to the department report the increase was due to the movement to market tobacco co-operatively.

According to the report the average production per acre, on all parts of the Burley district was 855 pounds to the acre. In a summary of tobacco markets from 1916 to date, just made public by the R. M. Barker Tobacco Company, of Carrollton, and distributed to the trade, loose leaf sales show a gradual increase from 1916 up to 1919 and including the latter year, when the apex of $32.65 was reached. In that year Lexington sold 63,191,712 pounds at an average of $43.46.

At the morning service he will be heard on the same subject as Dr. Acheson. Dr. Vander Muelen is one of the most widely known and ablest preachers of the church, so that those who hear him will hear one of Kentucky's foremost preachers and educators.

LONE BANDIT ROBS PASSENGER TRAIN NEAR KANSAS CITY

Lone Negro Takes Valuables From Passengers in Pullman Cars on California Limited Late Last Night.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 12.—The California Limited, crack passenger train of the Santa Fe, was robbed by a lone negro, who escaped at the city limits, police were told today.

The bandit boarded the observation car in the yards here, took valuables of all passengers and then prowled through two other coaches, the conductor reported.

The negro leaped from the moving train as it neared the city limits, but no report of the robbery was received here until nearly two hours later, when at Lexington Junction, Mo., 40 miles east, received a message the conductor had thrown off in a brief note telling of the raid.

The limited left Kansas City shortly before 11 p. m. The negro boarded the observation car as the train left the station. He forced the passengers to place their valuables on a chair, then scooped them into his pockets and backed through the car into the next two Pullmans, robbing those with whom he came in contact. Passengers asleep were not disturbed.

GUN SHOT PROVES FATAL TO SARDIS YOUTH THIS MORNING

Lad Who Was Shot in the Leg Accidentally by His Uncle Tuesday Afternoon Died at Sardis Home Early Thursday.

Chancellor Fowler, who was shot in the leg by his uncle, James Fowler, while hunting mink on a farm in the Sardis neighborhood Tuesday afternoon, died as a result of his wound at the home of his parents Thursday morning at about 4:40 o'clock.

The young man with his uncle were returning home from work Tuesday afternoon late, when they treed a mink in a rock pile. The elder had a shot gun in his hand and as the animal ran from under the rock pile, he struck at it with the gun and the barrel struck the rock pile. The gun was exploded and the load lodged in the youth's right leg between the knee and the hip, completely tearing the bone in two.

While it was realized that the young man's injuries were serious, it was not thought that they would prove fatal and amputation was considered. The shock to the young man was terrific however and complications developed which caused his death.

Burial will be made Friday complete arrangements for which have not as yet been made.

Funeral services at 2:30 Friday afternoon from the Christian church at Sardis, Rev. J. F. Hopkins in charge. Burial will be made at Shannon.

THE ACHIEVEMENTS OF CONGRESS

Two outstanding achievements can be credited to the Sixty-Seventh Congress, the second session of which has just been adjourned.

Income of the Government was increased. Expenditures were made smaller. Yet, as a middle and apparently impossible feat, numerous new undertakings, long needed as phases of modern and wise governments' functioning, were provided for, with accompanying appropriations for their maintenance.

One of these was for the loaning of money to farmers to obtain seed. Another was for the distribution of Russian relief funds. More money was provided for river and harbor improvement, and for the further development of the Government's great industrial undertakings at Muscle Shoals. The patent office was reorganized and its facilities increased. Twenty-five additional Federal judges were provided, making the work of Government courts more readily disposed of without danger of lessening consideration.

However, these were but a few of the things Congress did in the ten months of its session. As few earlier Congresses have been able to do, the Sixty-Seventh almost compassed the world with the influence of its work. It provided for the "scrapping" of American naval vessels in conformity with the decisions of the conference on the limitation of armaments. It reduced the personnel and expenses of army and navy, yet in a way which doubtless will increase the efficiency of each arm of the republic's system of defense. Co-operative markets for farmers were authorized. Regulation of trading in grain futures was made possible. A commission for the funding of the Allied Powers debt to America was created.

Yet vast net economies were brought about. Thousands of Government employees were removed from the pay-rolls through reorganization methods which made their further retention unnecessary to increased betterment of the work they had been doing. National expenditures were reduced a billion dollars yearly, and the tax burden was also lessened an equal amount. Moreover, the public debt was reduced by $1,000,000,000 for the year, and there will be a surplus in the national treasury at the close of the fiscal year for the first time since 1916. The adoption of the budget was of itself a worthy session's work.

And, paralleling magnificently the splendor of these achievements is the enactment of a new tariff law which, while it gives thoroughly American safeguarding of every legitimate business interest of this country, provides for a natural adjustment of the cost of living while insuring American standards of industry and of existence. Moreover, the workings of the new law will add $3,000,000,000 to the Government's annual revenues, with consequent reduction of more onerous burdens of taxation on citizens of the country.

Not all was done by Congress which needed to be undertaken. Some of the legislation enacted was far from perfect in its form. In a remarkable degree, however, the work of the Sixty seventh Congress was performed in the face of such difficulties as seldom before confronted American lawmakers. The minority party was obstructive unflinchingly, and viciously fought almost every effort of the dominant party to provide for the public welfare. The opposition of outside interests, selfish as they were powerful, made itself felt in an astonishing fashion. What was achieved therefore not only proves the progressiveness of the present administration, but also represents legislative labor which could not be deceived nor bulldozed.—St. Louis Times.

MR. GOMPERS PROTESTS.

Samuel Gompers has sent a cablegram of protest against the reported Turkish atrocities in Europe, denouncing them as terrible and barbaric. This is commendable on Mr. Gompers' part but it is decidedly unimpressive for the reason that he has so far ignored protesting the even greater atrocity at Herrin, Ill., and by his silence has given it the sanction and approval. Indeed, only two or three weeks ago one of his prominent subordinates, Farrington, of Illinois, publicly declared in an authorized interview that any union man accused of participating in the Herrin massacre would be defended to the limit of the funds of the union. No discrimination was made and the country was given to understand that though the accused men might be blackly guilty and manifestly guilty they would still be defended by their "comrades and brothers." It is this sort of thing that rankles in the bosoms of decent people and which brings Mr. Gompers and his associates into odium. Before Mr. Gompers goes to protesting the Turkish outrages, it would be well for him to see to it that those under his control are not guilty of acts just as brutal and just as barbaric.—Fort Wayne News.

The American Federation of Labor named October 1 as "Impeachment day" but carefully stated that it was the impeachment only of Mr. Daugherty and Judge Wilkerson, thus relieving the fear that included in the list might be the judge, sheriff and other officials at Herrin, Ill., and also Governor Len Small. The convention adjourned too without providing any funds for prosecuting those guilty for wrecking trains and killing union train crews.—Fort Wayne News.

It is announced from Marion, Ill., that the "Williamson county jail has been refurbished and an entire tier of cells remodeled to house the miners indicted by the grand jury in connection with the Herrin massacre." The jails everywhere ought to be put in order for lynchings, and lynchings everywhere put in the jails. The country in every way, would greatly benefit.—Washington Star.

While the country is undoubtedly opposed to a large standing army and to every phase of militarism, yet the majority of the people will endorse the sentiment voiced by President Harding a few days ago when he declared there should be 100,000 young Americans instead of 28,000 in the reserve officers' training camps.—Houston Post (Dem.)

"Kept us out of European entanglements" would not be a bad slogan, along with others, for the coming Republican campaign.

COMMENT

I'm mighty glad old Columbus discovered this old new land 430 years ago today, aren't you?

The old bird didn't know a thing about what he found when he dropped anchor and waded onto dry land either, did he?

There was one thing that he was mighty certain of though and that was that the world was round instead of flat as the wise heads of his time had been teaching.

He was dead broke and probably sick at his stomach with discouragement when he found a sympathetic friend in Isabel, the old Spanish Queen. She hooked her brilliant and furnished him with the cash to make the little jaunt.

Have you ever stopped to think about the value of a loan? If Isabel hadn't staked Columbus we would not have been celebrating the 430th anniversary of his landing here today.

Although that was 430 years ago—October, 1492, it's still true that the fellow who discovers something new in business today must find an Isabel to put up the Jack. There are few self-starters who have found anything new.

That broken-down aristocrat who sneered at the poorly clad old woman in a street car yesterday afternoon would have to get together a whole flock of her ilk to balance the scales of real worth with the good old hard-working mother on the other side.

Not so many mortgages filed here this year and it is also noticed that there are not so many new automobiles.

As the arrival of the robin foretells the awakening Spring, so the chilly fall rains warn of frost, ice and snow.

If we could just get a few of these night owls to postpone their midnight solos until daylight and then sing at the corner of Government and Second streets, things would be alright. All that barnyard chorus needs to make it complete is the bray of a few Jack Asses and the howl of a few dogs.

HUSBAND'S CLEVER REUSE

The strange story of a man who tried to forget his past and begin life anew is shown in forceful screen drama in "The Man Who Married His Own Wife," the picture, starring Frank Mayo, which is presented at the Pastime Theater Thursday.

Frank Mayo cuts lose from the handsome and likeable roles and gives a noteworthy characterization as a man who was almost repulsive in appearance and who supposedly committed suicide because he thought his wife hated him. He hated his face—so he died by proxy in order that his wife might not have to look upon it. Then he got himself a new face. The story is by John Fleming Wilson and Mary Ashe Miller.

Getting a new face is made possible by plastic surgery, the new art developed in the war. The picture serves a good purpose in making people acquainted with the wonders of the new science.

Sylvia Breamer plays opposite the star with good effect in the leading feminine role. Francis MacDonald and Marie Crisp both give excellent performances in smaller roles while other parts are handled by Howard Cramp-ton and Joseph Girard.

When Stuart Paton wrote "Dr. Jim" he provided Mayo with one of his best vehicles. In "The Man Who Married His Own Wife" the same fine understanding of the star's talents is evident in the direction. Paton is remembered principally for his direction of "Conflict," a Universal-Jewel success starring Priscilla Dean.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Many Aches and Pains of Mayesville People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so may weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking-down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys, and generally when their activity is lessened, the whole body suffers.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills frequently come, and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards dropsy, gravel or fatal Bright's disease. When the kidneys fail there is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys.

No need to take the statement of someone living far away as evidence. Here is a case right in this locality.

A. Sorries, gun and locksmith, Aberdeen, Ohio, says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills leads me to recommend them strongly. My kidneys acted irregularly and the secretions contained sediment. I had backaches and when I stooped it was difficult to straighten again. Colds always settled on my back and kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they put a stop to the trouble."

OVER FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Sorries said: "I am the same strong believer in Doan's Kidney Pills. I have had no trouble with my kidneys since recommending Doan's."

If the singular or plural form of a word is used, the plural cannot be counted and vice versa. Words of the same spelling can be used any number of times, but each word must be designated by a number. The same object can be named only once, although any part of the object may also be named. Words there is more than one word equally applicable to an object any one of them will count.

4. The person sending in the largest and nearest correct list of words beginning with the letter "S," naming objects shown in the picture, will win First Prize; second nearest, Second Prize. The prize will be given for each correct word sent in and one point deducted for each incorrect word or omission. This will be figured on a percentage basis. Neatness, style or handwriting have no bearing upon deciding the winners.

5. All answers will receive the same consideration, regardless of whether or not a subscription is sent in.

Persons may work together in preparing their lists, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household. Nor will more than one prize be awarded to any group outside the household where two or more have been working together.

6. In the event of a tie for any prize offered the full amount of such prize will be paid to each person so tied. The correct list will be made up of correct words submitted by contestants. It will not consist of any "winner" or "predetermined" list.

7. The following well-known citizens of Cincinnati, having no connection with The Enquirer, will act as judges. They will use as their authority Webster's New International Dictionary, and contestants agree to accept their decision as final and conclusive.

Mr. A. L. Belknap, Postmaster, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Mr. Randall J. Condon, Superintendent of Public Schools, Cincinnati, Ohio.
Judge Edw. T. Dixon, Cincinnati, Ohio.

8. These judges will meet directly following the close of the puzzle game, and the names of the Prize Winners and the winning list of words together with the correct list, will be published in the Enquirer just as quickly thereafter as the judges can complete the checking.

SIX PECKS AN ACRE FOUND

BEST RATE TO SEED WHEAT.

Lexington, Ky. — Plantings made at the rate of six pecks of seed an acre have given the best wheat yields on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station farm where experiments have been conducted for many years to determine the best rate of seeding in Kentucky, according to E. J. Kinney, a member of the station agronomy department. This amount is sufficient in nearly all cases but to sow less than six pecks an acre is only advisable where the soil is extremely rich or the seedlings made very early in the season. The statement was made in response to scores of inquiries being received at this time of the year from farmers in all parts of the state who are making preparation for wheat planting.

"Some years, five pecks of seed an acre have given yields just as large as those obtained from six pecks of seed but in no case have the yields from the smaller amount of seed been larger. On very rich tobacco land, four pecks of seed an acre occasionally have given yields as large as those from other rates of seeding. However, on corn land where wheat does not stool so readily, seedlings made at a lower rate than six pecks an acre practically never have given yields quite as large as those obtained from six pecks of seed an acre."

"Occasionally, in very severe winters, seven to eight pecks an acre have given larger yields than those obtained from six pecks an acre. Kentucky farmers often sow five pecks an acre, or even a bushel on tobacco land. Under most conditions, this rate of seeding will give practically a full crop. It is true that wheat will stool out extensively when sown thin but is more likely to straw fall in such cases and seldom yields as well. Seven pecks to the acre probably would be advisable if the wheat is to be pastured to a considerable extent.

"The much advertised 'Peck-to-the-Acre,' or 'Marvelous' wheat, claimed by its introducers to give full yields when sown at the rate of a peck or two to the acre, when seeded at this rate on the station farm has given yields from four to eight bushels an acre less than were obtained when six pecks were sown to the acre. Two pecks an acre of seed from this variety have given an average of 25 bushels an acre while six pecks have given approximately 30 bushels."

New York Letter

New York. — It is hard to discourage Nature. A living tree is growing on an elevated station platform here. New York is proof of that. Nourished in a small mound of earth swept during many years from Elevated trains, it has survived many dry spells and other exigencies of storm and city life. Old-time carmen say the shrub was noticed growing on the pile of dirt several years ago, and car cleaners have steadily added to the mound as the tree flourished.

—NC—
New York is willing to look far afield for amusement if she sees any signs of it growing about our wide continent. Consequently, the racing and sporting fraternity, and—breathe it gently—a considerable number of others of our population are planning to take a trip out to the southwest coast for the opening of the races at Tia Juana, Mexico, on November 30. The rejuvenation of this famous old track was one of the frequent bits of conversation during the recent World series ball games, when the followers of sports from over the country were gathered here. New Yorkers used to go to Tia Juana, but it has deteriorated recently. Now a San Diego company with the attractively Spanish name of Zaragoza, has obtained possession of it, and promises to turn it into a clean health and vacation resort, and the race enthusiasts are rejoicing, accordingly.

—NY—
He was a most impressive looking man who was selecting an exceedingly dignified hat in a Fifth avenue shop. Middle-aged "bankerish" looking, he had the attention of three clerks. Finally he chose a hat, and then asked the salesman to "lay it aside until tomorrow, as my wife will have to pass on it before I could wear it." And I would dare many people to try to pass on any of that man's decisions.

—NY—
Middle-age is as ready to adopt new customs as youth—if the customs are only sensible. Out at Webster avenue the 26th street, the other day, I saw a woman of fifty-five or so, sawing dead limbs from a tree with the greatest agility in the world, and she was dressed comfortably and trigly in knickers!

The Theater Guild has acquired a new romantic comedy by Franz Molnar, author of "Lillom," which the Guild made so successful last season. "The Guardsman" is the title of the new play, which will be produced during the present season with Joseph Schildkraut, who also played "Lillom", in the title role.

—NY—
Never has New York been so restless in the matter of homes as this fall. The gas company reports that 46,725 families moved in the two or three days covering the first of October, according to the gas meter changes required. This, of course, does not include the thousands who live in residence hotels, or in "quarter-in-the-slot" gas meter apartments. Last year, only 31,242 meters had to be locked and unlocked.

—NY—
The institution of the chop house has passed in New York. The superficial observer blames it upon prohibition; but the melancholy old-time chophouse patron scoffs at this as a complete explanation. "It's the women!" he declares. "Women are everywhere these days. They eat everywhere just as they work everywhere. A chophouse was a man's eating place. The food, the atmosphere, the discussions, were all the kind men like. Now every restaurant keeper caters to women in his choice of menu. Women never did appreciate good thick mutton chops. And the whole atmosphere of the old chop houses has disappeared along with the limited bill of fare. Women's entrance into business has killed the institution."

SEVEN EVENTS TO AFFECT PRICES OF FARM PRODUCE.

Lexington, Ky. — Markets for farm products, especially poultry, will be affected to a considerable extent during the remainder of the present year by at least seven important holidays, according to O. B. Jesness, head of the section of markets of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. While Thanksgiving and Christmas are the two most important events, vary others, especially Jewish holidays of which there are several during the coming few months, are expected to have an important effect on the markets for certain products. New York city is the leading live poultry market of the country with the result that prices received by farmers in this state will be influenced to a considerable extent by the demands of markets in that city.

Day of Atonement is the nearest holiday of any consequence, this one being celebrated October 2. All prime stock, especially White Leghorn chickens and roosters, are in demand for this event. September 26 to 29 include the best New York marketing days for products in demand for this holiday. Feast of Tabernacles, which will be celebrated four days later, October 6, will create a demand for ducks, fowls and fat geese. The best New York market days for products in demand for this holiday are October 2 to 4.

WATER SUPPLIES POLLUTED BY POOR SEWAGE DISPOSAL.

Lexington, Ky. — Improper disposal of sewage accounts for the large number of contaminated water supply systems that are to be found in both country and city, according to a new circular entitled, "Septic Tanks for Sewage Disposal," which has just come off the press at the College of Agriculture and which is being distributed free to interested persons. The new publication points out that the septic tank with the sub-surface disposal system not only is superior to cesspools, chemical closets and other means of sewage disposal but also has proved to be the most satisfactory method of disposing of waste in rural home where running water is available.

A septic tank is an underground, water-tight tank in which the solid matter in sewage is liquefied by decay before being discharged from the tank into the disposal beds, space for which usually is available on every farm. Work of lawing the tile and constructing the tank can be done by the average farmer. In addition the tank can be built at some time when other work is not pressing, thus making it possible to utilize labor. Most of the materials needed for the average tank can be found on the farm so that the actual cash outlay for a concrete septic tank will not be high. When properly installed, this method of sewage disposal requires little attention.

Important points to be considered in constructing the tank together with important factors that must be considered in building the disposal bed are outlined in the new circular which contains many drawings and illustrations to show the proper methods of construction. Working plans for the two common types of septic tanks—single and double-chamber—together with the methods of constructing the forms, mixing and placing the concrete, a discussion of steel reinforcements and suggestions in regard to the operation of septic tanks are given in the new publication. Complete bills of material for both the single and double-chamber tanks also are given in the circular. It is No. 131 and may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington.

CONDITIONS OVER STATE GOOD FOR FALL SEEDING

Showers Are Great Benefit to Fall Pastures and Seeding of Winter Wheat and Rye, Says Crop Report.

A summary of weather and crop conditions in Kentucky for the week ending Tuesday, October 10, 1922, follows:

The first five days were unseasonably warm, but the week ended with temperatures considerably below normal. Good showers, occurring generally over the state near the end of the week, caused improvement in pastures and insured germination of grain and alfalfa that have been sown recently. Considerable wheat and barley were sown during the week, but most of it was done in corn stubble; as the soil has continued too dry for much progress with plowing. Germination has been unsatisfactory, some grain dying soon after sprouting. Better results are now possible in seeding and soil preparation; but considerably more rain is needed to thoroughly soften the ground, also for pastures, clover, alfalfa, and for replenishing stock water. Cutting late corn and housing late tobacco is nearly finished. Conditions have been exceptionally favorable during the period of harvest for drying out the corn and curing tobacco. As a result corn will be ready to crib earlier than usual, and the color and quality of tobacco has been improved. Some late potatoes that are still green will be benefited by the rains; but the high temperature of the last ten days caused premature drying of the plants and a lessening of the yield. Considerable sorghum is also in the field; otherwise crops are safe from frost injury.

LINER IS ON FIRE.

San Francisco, Oct. 12. — The passenger liner City of Honolulu, bound from Honolulu to San Pedro, Calif., is afire at sea, a radio message received here today reported.

The message gave the vessel's position as latitude 31.07 north, longitude 131.40 west, which is about two days' run from San Pedro.

The City of Honolulu is one of the two vessels recently placed on the run between San Pedro and Honolulu to handle tourist travel, as well as the freight traffic, between southern California resorts and the islands. Among her passengers, it was believed, were many tourists en route to eastern homes.

A GOOD INSTITUTION.

The Augusta Chronicle says: The Chronicle heard one of Bracken's leading physicians make this remark a few days ago, "That Bracken county and this entire section of the country should consider itself lucky in having access to the Maysville hospital; that the hospital was up-to-date in every particular, and that Dr. Taulbee, as a physician and surgeon, is second to none in this entire section of the country." The writer knows personally that Dr. Taulbee has performed a number of most severe operations for patients living in this neighborhood and he stands high with our people.

MANY WILL ATTEND THE COMING GAME AT FLEMINGSBURG.
 The gridgers of the Maysville High School will tour to Flemingsburg Saturday to combat in a return football game with the high school team of that place and a large crowd of supporters composed mostly of the students will accompany the squad.

With the present snappy weather and another week's practice added on they should pull in their first triumph of the season. Several men of some size have also been added to the list as well as the recovery of one or two stars in the past two weeks, should break into the contest.

CHIEF PROSECUTING WITNESS FAILS TO APPEAR.

The case was called in City Court Thursday afternoon but the defendant was dismissed by Judge Curran because of the failure of the complaining witness to appear in court.
